

REGISTERING TO VOTE

the Traveller Movement

Why?

Registering to vote entitles to you to vote in UK elections, that means you can have a say on the issues that affect you. You may think you don't want to vote now, but registering to vote and being on the electoral register means that if an issue comes up in the future that you want to have your say on, you can. Remember, registering to vote does not mean you have to vote – it just means that if you want to you can!

The electoral register is also used by credit agencies and local authorities - which means that registering to vote may make it easier to enroll in your children in school, register for a GP, and make successful applications for loans and phone contracts

How?

You can register to vote online, and it only takes around 5 minutes. Scan the QR code to go to the Government's register to vote page.

If you need any help with your application, you can also phone the Traveller Movement who will be able to support you through the process
